In Memory Of James McGlaughlin

1931 - 1990

The students all knew him
as their "Mr. Mac."
He counseled many of them personally,
and they wish he were back.

He enjoyed being with young people
and watching them grow.
He never played "favorites",
of this we all know.

Mac just never seemed
to have a bad day.
He made counseling seem like
"no work and all play."

His face was never ever seen with a frown.
That cheerful smile always picked you up when you were down.

Mac's quick little hugs
and pats on the back,
Always made people feel
they were "on the right track."

We'll miss this man dearly
in our lives every day;
But let's all remember,
"in our hearts he will stay."

Mac's still in counseling,
on that you can bet.
He's just counseling in heaven,
"He hasn't given up yet!"

We'll miss you, Mr. Mac.

IN OURSELVES OUR FUTURE LIES . . .

As the school year ends, we are faced with new and more important responsibilities. For the time being our lives are less hectic; yet greater and greater challenges lie ahead.

Right now we are preparing for the future. What will our future hold? It all depends on the amount of effort that has been generated in these precious high school years. Education is known to be the key to success. It provides unlimited opportunities for growth and for developing our personalities. If this is so, we have just unlocked the door to our futures. The future holds many challenges, and the Class of '91 is just the group to conquer them. Life is so unpredictable—it may be that we will all end up doing something totally different from what we expected.

In any event, high school has provided an opportunity for experiences that we will take with us no matter what we do. This shows the importance of doing our best in school. These years have also formed the basis for many future memories. Many of us will never forget these “best years of our lives.” We never realize how extensive a role high school plays in our background. It teaches us a great deal about work and friendship.

We've placed in this book our memories of things accomplished. And someday when we get the urge to pull this book out and blow the dust off, we'll probably laugh at the hairstyles, clothes, teachers, and that guy or girl we would have “died” to have gone out with. These precious memories will provide happiness as we walk down the multitude of paths that are open to our choosing.

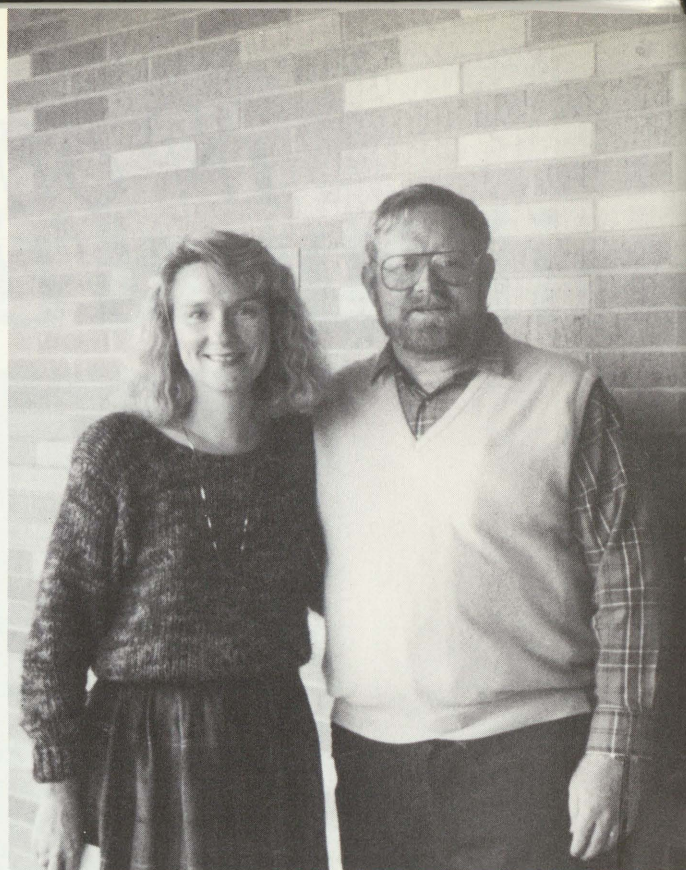

—The Senior Class of 1991

“Memories” Are So Powerful

Years go by,
but still the memories are there.
Friends go by,
but still the memories are there.
Teachers go by,
but still the memories are there.
Football games go by,
but still the memories are there.
Pep Assemblies go by,
but still the memories are there.
Seniors, let's make the best of times,
so when the good times are over,
The Memories Are Still There!
—Amber Donell

It's ironic, on the last day we're all together—graduation day—everyone cries about leaving the very place we couldn't wait to get out of!

Think about it — these are supposed to be the best days of our lives!

Will we be able to recognize each other in 20 years —
Will anyone recognize me?—bald, and with that old spare tire?

—Gerry Rustic

We are nearing the end of the road—
Girls are now ladies, and boys have become men.
The memorable times, good or bad, are being left behind.

This is the conclusion of a journey that has virtually made us what we are.

As the tassel is moved from right to left, we have reached our destination.

Even though there are new challenges ahead, none will be as unforgettable as the mission we've just accomplished!

—Korye Jones

Since the beginning of our Senior year I have realized that most of our teachers seem to treat us more like adults than they have in the past years. Most of our teachers understand what being a Senior is all about, and the feelings that we are having during this last year — the waiting for June, the repetitious classes, the boring lectures, the waiting for college, and the feeling of “why are we here?”

As Mr. Schmitt would say, “This all helps us make it through this last year.”

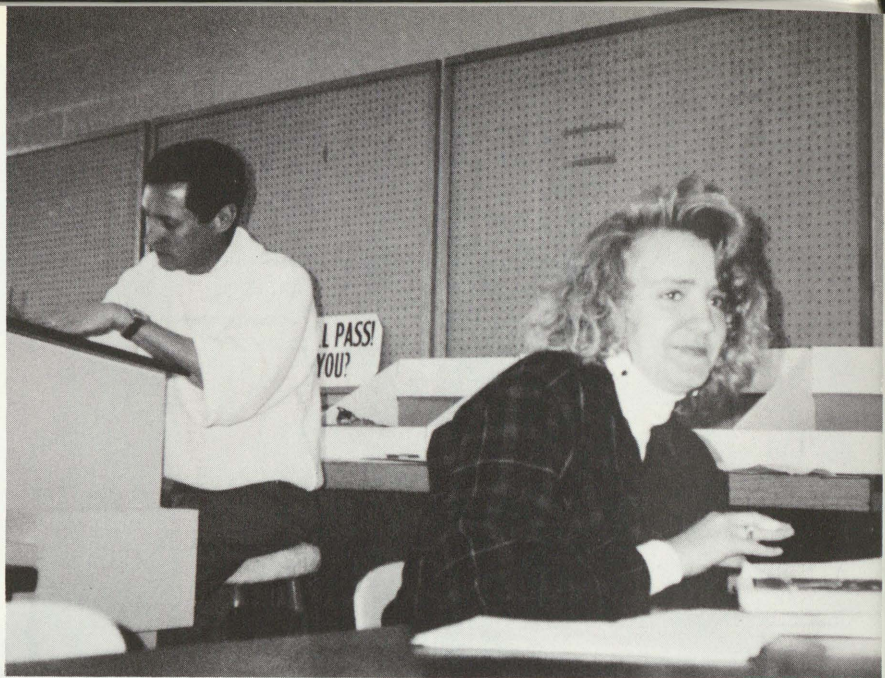

—Julie Abraham

Tomorrow I See, What I Couldn't See Yesterday

It seems like yesterday
I was just in sixth grade,
Learning and laughing
With the friends I had made.

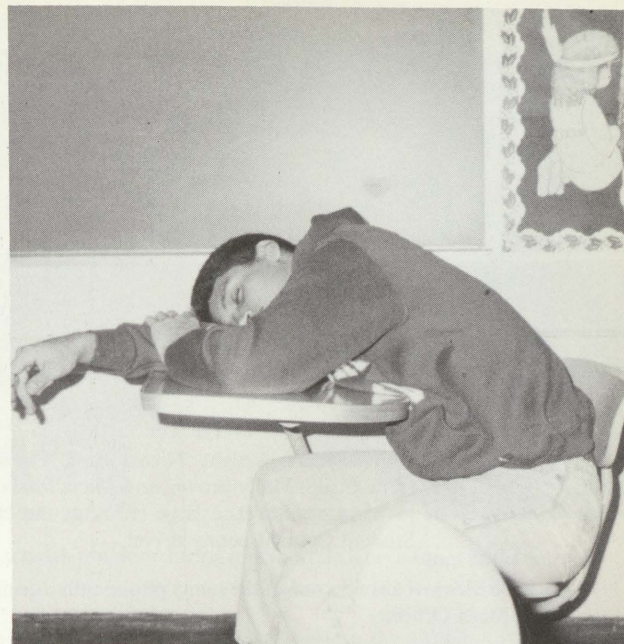

But as years passed by,
I hadn't noticed at all
That I was changing and growing,
From the child once so small.

I feared growing up
And stepping out on my own,
Leaving the securities
That I've always known.

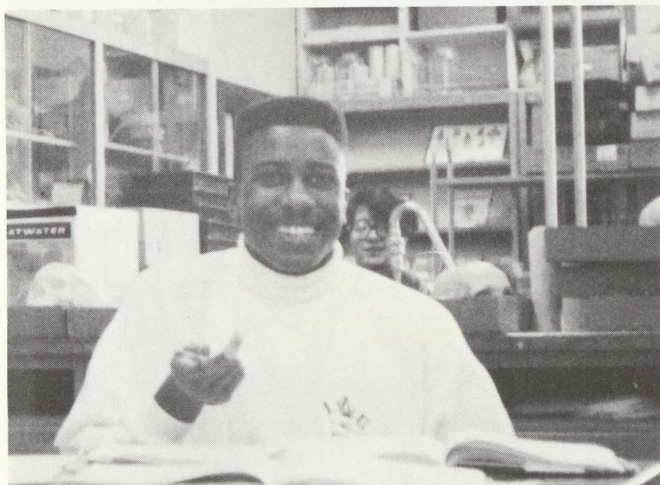

Just around the corner
My future awaits.
"One's future is based
On the life he creates."

Some day I'll look back
On what I once used to be.
I'll ask myself,
"Was that really me?"

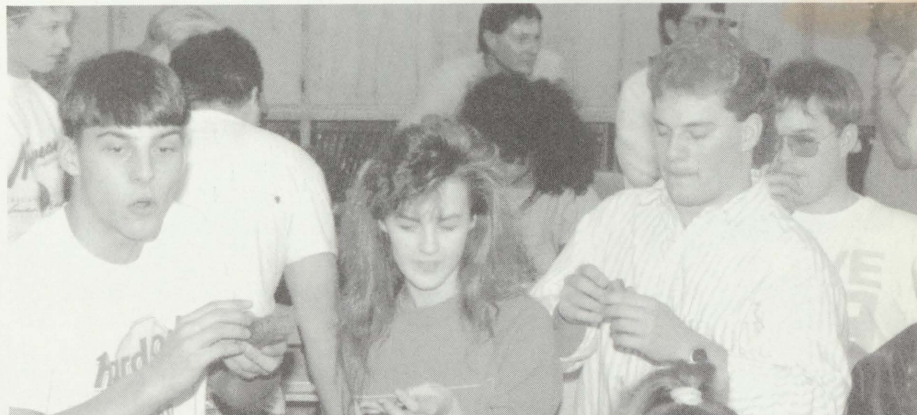

I can't stop time
For that's not up to me;
But I'll remember my yesterdays,
And grow with each memory.
—Michelle Byers

THAT BELL!!

It's that last class of the day with only fifteen minutes remaining in the class period. You are restless, and you have been in classes all day, you deserve a break. You are tired of listening to your instructors and you say to yourself, "Will the bell ever ring?" You try not to look at the clock because when you do, the time seems to be moving along very slowly. You sit and wait impatiently for that bell to ring. You glance around the class, and by the expression on the other students' faces, you assume that they would like to get out of class just as bad as you do. You are finally in the five minute countdown for the bell to ring:

Five minutes of class remaining: You are packing your things so you can leave.

Four minutes: You are socializing with everyone.

Three minutes: You are relieved to know that the bell will be ringing soon.

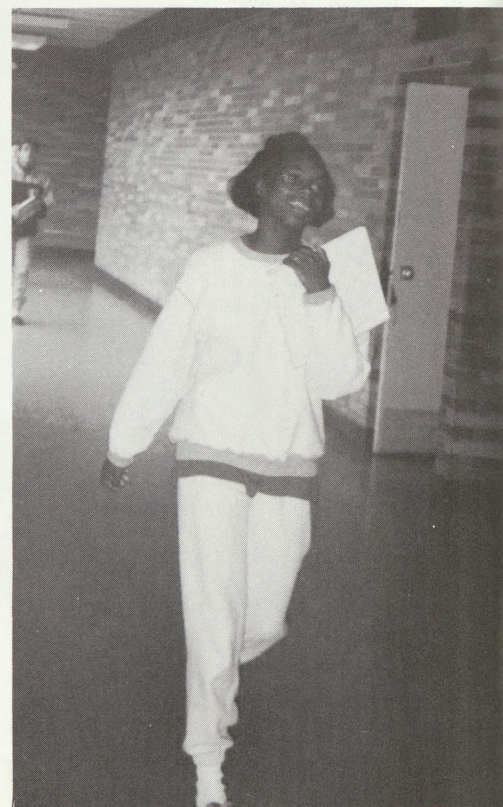

Two minutes: You have a smirk on your face because you know that you're home free.

One minute: You are on the edge of your seat preparing for that speedy take-off.

THE BELL!! Finally you're off — you move through the crowd with authority and some verve in order to get to your locker so you can go home. You say to yourself:

YES! I'm coming home!

THE HIGH SCHOOL EXPERIENCE

This is my second year at the high school and I have some likes and dislikes. I know schools are not perfect though.

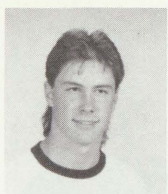

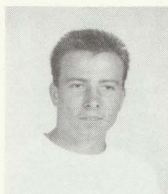

I dislike the lockers. They're too small. Your books might fit, but when it comes winter time you have that big, heavy jacket to put in there. You have to cram it into the bottom and it just fits.

I also dislike the way the halls are so packed. You have to move around people and move around the ones who decide to stop in the hall to talk to their friends.

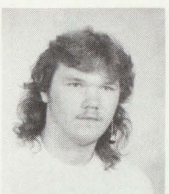

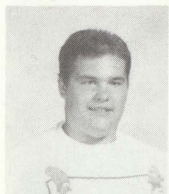

I like the open campus at the high school.

You get to go to your favorite fast food restaurant or there's even the After Hours school store where you can buy candy, chips, pop, and school supplies that you need. I also like the high school because there are a lot of activities you can go to throughout the year like wrestling, basketball, and football. You go and meet your friends and have a great time!

LOOKING BACK

As I look back on the years past, I see many changes. I no longer have all the friends I once had. I've got more goals and determination to achieve them. All of my thoughts, conversations, readings and activities have changed. I've stepped up onto another level.

When I was younger, having friends was the most valuable thing to me. I wanted to be known, popular, and have lots of best friends. Now, it's as if I don't mind being alone in the halls. Friends are no longer my number one priority; I've got a very special sister whom no friend can compare to.

Looking back at my thoughts and goals, I see I had none. I'd take each day as it was given to me. There was no planning in my life to affect my future. Today, I watch my every move so I can only improve and move upward. I've become so determined to be someone.

As I grow, I also see the books I read change and become more interesting. I used to read books like "Curious George" and "Hansel and Gretel", and now I've grown into "To Kill a Mockingbird" and "Ordinary People".

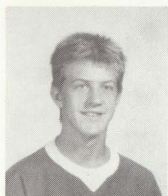

Most of all, school has become somewhat easier. I don't exactly look forward to going to school everyday, but I know what I have to do to attain my goals.

Looking back on my achievements makes me smile.

SUCCESS

Do you remember when your teachers and relatives asked you what you wanted to be when you grew up? Remember answering with something that now seems silly? Now, as you mature, you realize just how important that question is. Our futures depend on what we decide now!

I always wonder how many of my classmates will really be successful. Achieving our highest possible goals will prepare us for the long road ahead. Using our potential and living each day to the fullest is important. Believe in ourselves and never let anyone take those dreams away.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Most people don't realize the sophomore year will be as complicated and busy as it is. I thought it would be fun and games—I was wrong!

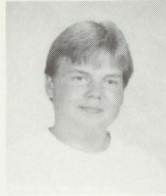

So many things are happening. You barely have time to sit down or take five minutes to read a book.

You must balance schoolwork, possibly a job, or a relationship, all at once. You get your license soon, and must contend with the pressure of that big step as well.

Sophomore year is kind of scary. So many things happening so fast, without a lot of time to adjust to them.

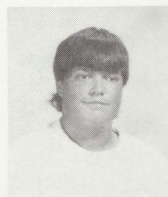

I've learned to take things as they come, and to deal with them as best I can. Don't allow things to get you down. Enjoy life! Know and accept your faults and your sophomore year will go smoother!

GYM

Isn't it just the most exhilarating class you have ever taken?

While taking your laps around the gym, and aching for the time to be up, the teacher suddenly yells that you have to run five minutes longer because some "people" behind you are gabbing their heads off!

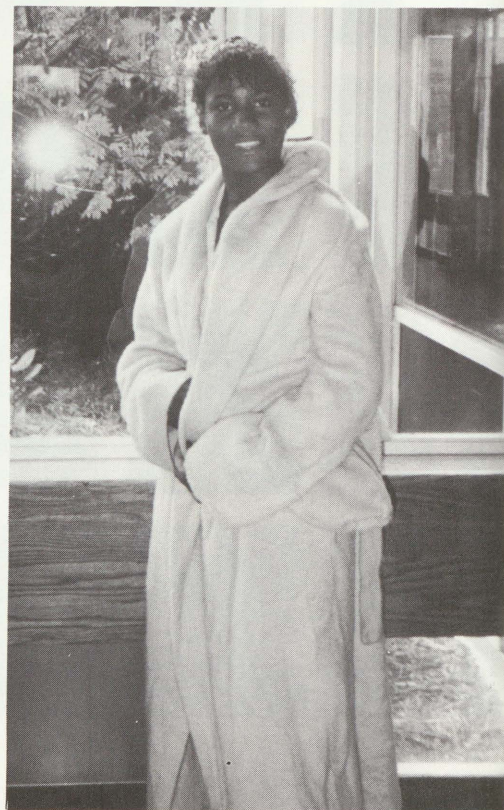

Then the real workout starts—Pushups! You strive to do your very best, but it seems impossible when Mr. Walderzak counts so-o-o slow!

After that's done you have to play those required sports like volleyball. As you're in a nice game of volleyball the person next to you hits the ball up in the ceiling so that all of these little particles of rust come tumbling down and float nicely into your hair.

Of course there are some advantages. You actually get graded on "playing." Then, of course, those nice teachers give you free days every once in awhile. It shouldn't be hard to do yet some people groan and whine and ask, "Do we actually have to "play?"

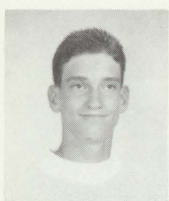

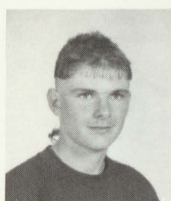

Well, I guess that's all about this topic. Join us next time when we ask the question, "Can Milli Vanilli 'really' sing?"

RESPONSIBILITIES FOR A SOPHOMORE

A sophomore has quite a few responsibilities to tend to. They have to get accustomed to harder classes, such as Biology and Geometry.

It's kind of hard to keep a very good report card. As a sophomore you have to study on your own, and make sure you do your homework. If you don't take it upon yourself to have responsibility to do the work, the teachers don't push you. So you freshmen better look out for your sophomore year and get ready to take on some responsibility!

FRIENDS ARE FOREVER

Some say after graduation, you do not remember anyone. Everyone moves away.

It's true, your "friends" will not help you get into a college, or to get a good job.

True friends never forget you. They will always be there. It may be hard to keep in touch with them. But if any of my friends ever need me, I'll be there.

—Celeste Cruz

Nothing but friends, who are forever to be.

When you need them, they are there. They love you a lot and really do care. Sometimes you and your friends may argue and fight.

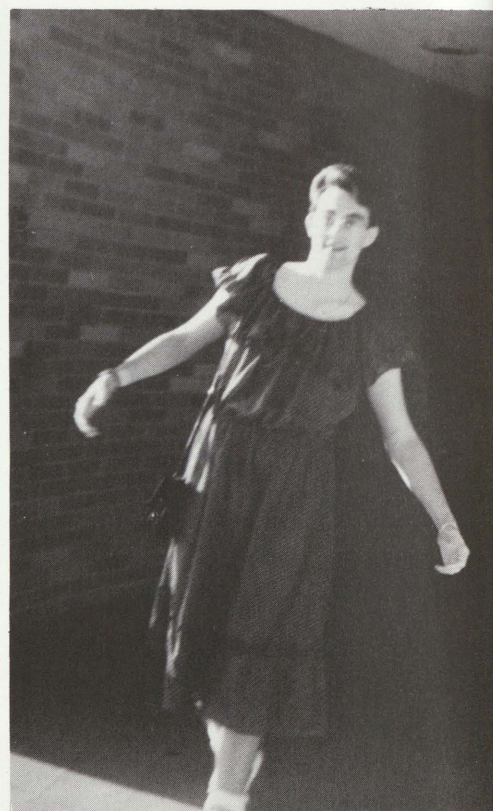

But you never worry, 'cause in the end, things always turn out right.

Friends are people you can count on, they never let you down.

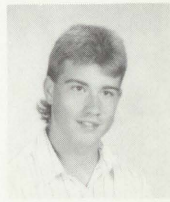

They wipe the tears away, and bring smiles instead of a frown.

THE HIGH SCHOOL YEARS

I think that the most memorable years in a person's life are their high school years. I have this opinion for three main reasons.

First of all, when you enter high school you meet a lot of different people. You begin to become more socially active. You start to realize the characteristics you like in a person.

Secondly, when you enter high school you begin to find your true identity. You learn all about yourself, and you give others a chance to know the real you.

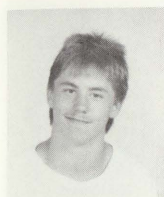

Finally, when you enter high school, that's when you really begin to buckle down and start working on your future. You really work hard on your studies because these grades are the grades that can determine what college you attend. You also learn more responsibility which you can carry on, and add to, as you mature.

So I hope that your high school years are the most memorable years ever.

HIGH SCHOOL MEMORIES ...

This is only my second year of high school, but already I have so many memories. I have met some great people over the past two years. One of the greatest would have to be Mr. Lipfert. He is so special, and loved so much.

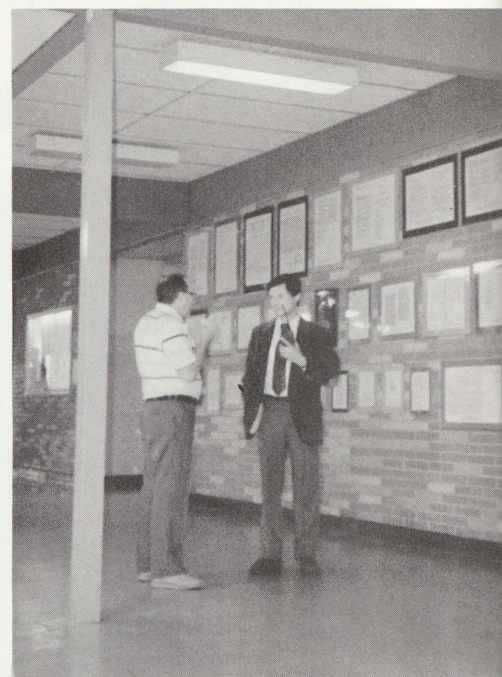

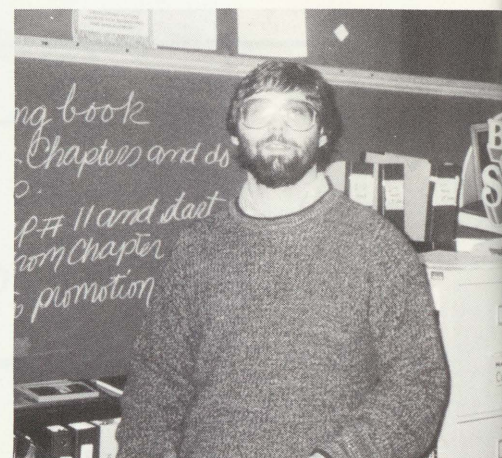

Mr. Lipfert is not only a great teacher and S.A.D.D. advisor, but he can always be a very special friend. He is very easy to talk to, and he always seems to have the answers to everyone's problems.

I feel very lucky to know Mr. Lipfert. He can always make me smile, laugh, and turn red. If you ever want to get to know him, you need to be aware of his ability to embarrass you. Spending time with Mr. Lipfert brings back so many memories - memories that you'll never forget. I'm sure I'm speaking for many others when I say, "Mr. Lipfert - We Love You !"

BACK STAGE

There are some jobs and positions within our school system which usually aren't thought about and recognized. These people are essential to the running of our school system, but are "behind the scenes" and not readily visible every day.

Our School Board, along with Mr. Karrow, Mr. Hauck, and Mr. Garner, make decisions for our school handbooks, school policies, school taxes, teacher and staff hiring and contracts, etc. The School Board has the responsibility of interviewing and hiring our superintendent, and making sure he does his job.

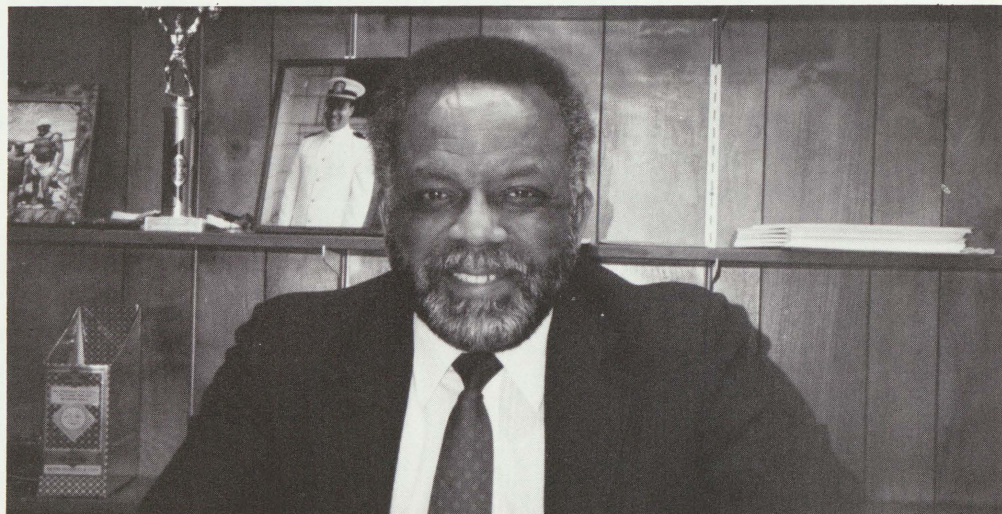

Another important person is our Athletic Director. Mr. O'Toole has the responsibility for scheduling, canceling, and re-scheduling all sports events at our High School. Stop and think of all the sports activities that take place at our school in a year. Mr. O'Toole also has been helping out with discipline and attendance problems this year.

Our custodians are usually taken for granted, but they work hard trying to clean up after us when we have special dinners, assemblies, games, lunch hours, etc.

You may not hear it too often, but THANK YOU ALL FOR A JOB WELL DONE!

Mr. Karrow - Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Garner - Director of Instruction

CHARACTERISTICS OF A GOOD ATHLETE

A good athlete has three important qualities. They are competitiveness, determination, and dedication. If one wants to be a good athlete, one needs the most important characteristic — competitiveness. Competitiveness gives one the strength to beat their opponent. If one has the ability to play until the end, and not give up, that is competitiveness.

Determination and dedication are also important characteristics of an athlete. If one sets a goal to strive for, whether it is big or small, and accomplishes it, that is determination. The last important characteristic is dedication. Without dedication there cannot be determination. Dedication is spending many hours practicing and improving skills. Dedication also means giving up something else one loves to do, so there is more time to be the best athlete one can be.

J-V FOOTBALL

What makes a football team? Football —now that's a sport! Football is a sport that takes teamwork. Without teamwork you don't have a team. It takes teamwork to make a play a success; it takes good blocking, good runners, etc.

Team spirit is another big requirement for football. If a player messes up, don't get down on him, help him.

Well, that's what I think makes a good football team, or any other sports team.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

Why do high school sports exist? Without them would we still have that school spirit? Without high school sports the after school activities would be dead. Friday nights would be boring. What about homecoming? What would we do without that? How about freezing on those metal bleachers as we watch those fierce Bearcats push down the field.

It takes a lot of hard work and team unity. You have to stick together as a team. It is disappointing winning only two games in two years, but you have got to stick with all the good times. I didn't achieve the goal I wanted, but I led the team the best I could.

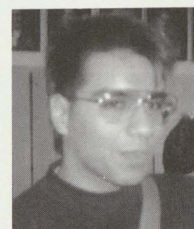

—Michael Krueger

Then as winter creeps up, we sit in that stuffy gym to be with our friends as we hope for yet another Bridgeport victory! How about the athletes out there? What would we do if sports were ever cut out? If you look at it, sports are a big part of a lot of people's high school years.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIENCE—

My experience as a Freshmen Cheerleader was very exciting. I can't decide which was better, cheering for football or basketball, because they were both fun. Even though we stood out in rain and very cold weather, we kept the crowd spirit and enjoyed cheering for our Freshmen team. I also learned a lot about football. When football season ended, I have to admit I was glad. It was tiring cheering because the games were so long, but they sure were worth it.

I was very excited for basketball because it was a whole new game. Our squad learned new cheers and chants. Plus, what made basketball so great was how well our team played. They all played wonderfully together. I loved to watch them from the sidelines.

I not only experienced the performing part of being a cheerleader, but I learned how to get along with people I wasn't really friends with. At first I hardly talked to anyone, but that changed quickly. I knew that we were all going to be together for a year so we would have to make the best of it. We had our fights, and problems with one another, but we managed to work them out. Now every one of them is my very close friend.

Another new experience for me was my schedule. At times it would be very hectic. Between dance, homework, school, and family, I also had to be a cheerleader. I thought I would have to quit one of those activities just to slow my schedule down; but I couldn't—I loved doing all of them, especially cheerleading!

I'll never forget my Freshmen year in cheerleading. Thank you Freshmen Cheerleading Squad, and also our coach for the great year!

SPIRIT LEADERS

The Bridgeport Cheerleaders have worked very hard this year. It all started in the summer, with Cheerleading Camp. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity squads attended the NCA camp at Saginaw Valley State University. This was a summer we will all remember, from the calisthenics to the special skit on the last day.

The J-V squad bought new uniforms and are working to raise money to pay for all of them. Our major fund raisers included: bake sales, football pins, selling cards and wrapping paper at Christmas, pom pon sales, M&M sales, and we also sold Bearcat calendars.

Some people believe that cheerleading is not really a sport, but as far as work and determination, these girls have it all.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

The 1991 Varsity Volleyball team was a dedicated group of nine girls who worked well together on the court. The team consisted of three juniors—Kris Berry, Becky Flores and Kris Heyse; and six seniors—Becca Budd, Beth LaFave, Stacie Launstein, Michelle Morrow and co-captains Tondra Bowman and Jennifer Hargett. Their coach was Sue Popp.

The season began at a huge tournament at Carrollton. The team placed third in their pool and only missed second place by five points. The girls were disappointed but not discouraged. Their hopes were high for the rest of the season and all were determined to do their best. This air of high spirits and dedication was shown in the team's motto, "We deliver excellence."

Waiting for the match to start, you try to wait patiently. Anxiety gets to you. It's like waiting to see if you get called to go to war. The butterflies turn and tremble in your stomach. Why can't time go faster, so you can get the match over with? But, all you can do is sit and wait.

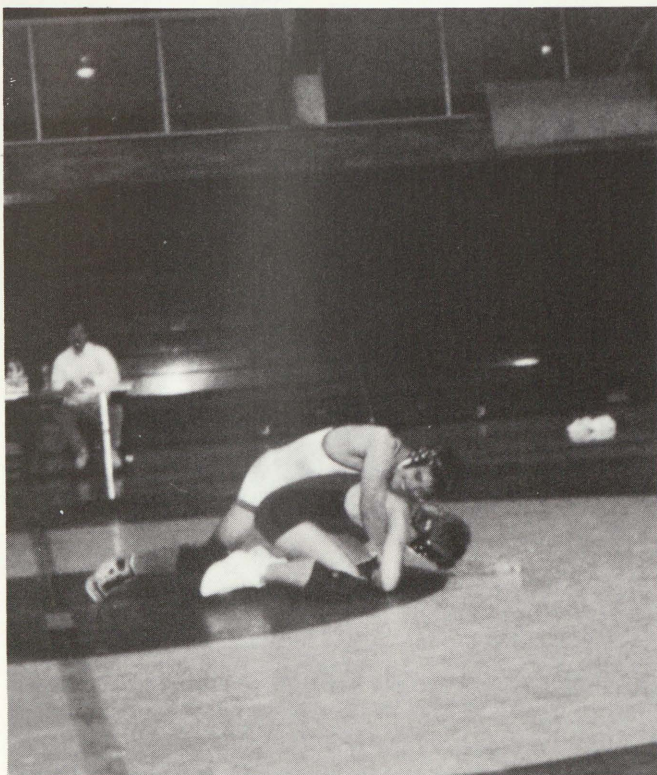

Finally it is time for your match. Will you lose? Will you embarrass yourself? Hundreds of thoughts run through your head. How will you explain the loss? Have you made out your will? Will you still be popular if you lose? You stare across at your opponent as you step onto the mat. He looks like Godzilla or King Kong, and you feel like Mighty Mouse. Your last few moments of life are about to end. As you arrive in the center of the mat, you meet your opponent. Shaking hands with the opponent, you feel his hands are clammy like a corpse.

Now, the referee steps to the side and blows the whistle. At times it can sound like a cannon shooting to the opponent's bunker. As you tie up, you look like two trees, swaying back and forth, waiting for the other to make a mistake. Finally he does. He falls! It sounds like a tree being cut by a woodsman. He falls to his back. You gasp for air, but it is as if all atmosphere and air has gone away. Your mouth tastes like cotton, and you wish it were over, but just then the first period ends. The beating of your heart goes faster as your coach yells words of encouragement.

What to do now? All you can do is pray again and wait. The match starts again. You throw him, not too easy, but not too hard. He's on his back again. Can you hold him down? Luckily he has run out of ammunition. You squeeze his arm and head together and he is pinned. You have won the war!

“What Makes Tennis Fun?”

Most people think tennis is a boring sport. If you don't have a coach like Miss VanKuiken, then it could be boring. Miss Van makes Tennis fun. She makes us work very hard; and even though we do work hard, Miss Van makes it fun by playing games like “Queen of the Court.” We aren't just playing a game, but we are also practicing our forehands, backhands, and where to place the ball on the other side of the opposite court.

Miss Van also acts like one of us. She doesn't act like a mean, grouchy, and boring coach. Miss Van uses our ideas, too. She doesn't always think she is right. A good coach is what makes a sport fun, and that certainly is Miss Van! I wish she taught more sports.

BRYAN WEILER WINS #100!

Bryan's trying hard to get the opponent down.

In my opinion, wrestling is the most physically challenging sport there is! When you get off the mat after six minutes of wrestling with someone, you feel like you've been run over by a truck. That is why we train as hard, and most of the time harder, than any other team.

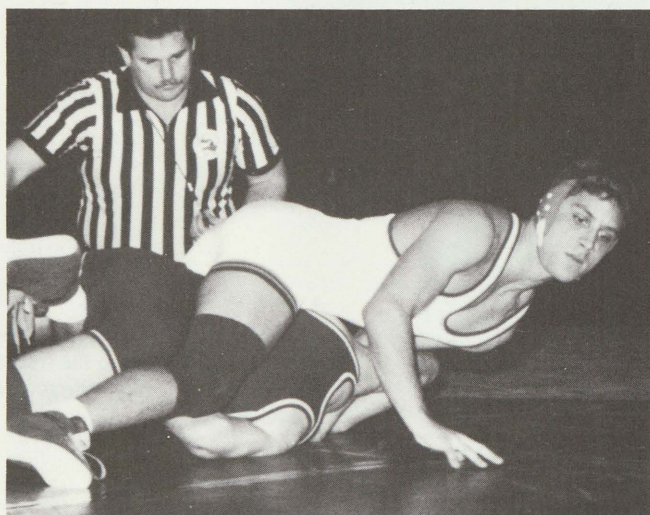

I like how wrestling is a team sport on paper, but once you step onto the mat it is only you out there! No one can control the outcome of the match except you.

You have to have a winning attitude to be successful in wrestling. If you just sign up to pass time away during the winter, then you are just wasting your time. You have to want to win, want to train hard, and want to be successful when you go out for wrestling! If you set your goals too low, you will never achieve anything great; but when you set your goals high, and you achieve them, it's the best feeling in the world!

I have worked hard to be successful in wrestling, and I know it will reflect on the rest of my life.

—Bryan Weiler

"Okay, I've got him down — now I just have to hold him!"

The team is almost as excited as Bryan!

I feel wrestling has shown me the right way to take care and condition my body. Wrestling has also taught me how to think ahead, so if something goes wrong, there are always at least two other ways to go.

I also feel wrestling has given me a sense of family. We take thirty strangers and bring them together, and when the season is over we are all close friends. That's the best thing wrestling has given me.

SPORTS WATCHING

I can't begin to count how many school games my friends and I have attended. During the football season this year we would have traveled to the ends of the earth to watch our team play. Sometimes I would get so carried away with cheering that I wouldn't even know if we were winning or losing! We often cheered with, and for, the cheerleaders. Personally, watching the cheerleaders was my main reason for going!

Although our football team had a bad season, I feel that our other sports teams may be very successful. Our basketball team has a lot of potential. Also, our wrestling team, of which I am a member, should be pretty good. I can hardly wait to attend more games!

GERMAN

IT'S ALL GERMAN TO ME

Out of all the classes I've had these past years, one never fails to make my day enjoyable; this class is German. Being a sophomore this year, I have German II. Last year when I had German I, I found that I like it a lot, and therefore took German II. This year not only am I learning and having more fun, but the students in German II have the chance to participate in an adventure in Germany. This alone is reason enough to take the second year of German, yet not the only one. German allows a person to broaden the possibilities available to him or her. This second language may help when looking for a job or finding the right college.

Yet all of this would not be possible without the right teacher. This special teacher is none other than Ms. Sennowitz, B.K.A. Frau! Frau is like no other teacher. She keeps the class fun, yet you always learn something there. The class doesn't seem that hard because you are learning a second language without it being boring.

So, in conclusion, if you're looking for a class where you can learn something you may actually use, have the chance to visit a foreign country, and have fun, the choice is obvious — GERMAN. Any other decision would be a mistake.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Many people say bad things about our school. Even our own students put our school down. Bridgeport might have some bad things taking place, but some groups try to change them.

Student Council has done things to make our school better. Student Council members cleaned out the courtyard the Saturday morning before the homecoming dance. Student Council also had a Turkey Drive in November.

But of all the activities, the most successful is the Penny Drive. The Penny Drive creates a lot of competition between the Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes; but everyone knows the true meaning is "giving". Knowing we can accomplish something this big makes me proud to be on Student Council.

Advisor, Mr. Davis, Gretchen Ashmore and Alicia Misko, help total up the count for the Penny Drive.

DECA CHAPTER

DECA Education stands for Distributive Education Clubs of America. Students who participate in the Marketing and Management classes have an opportunity to join the club. They learn skills such as marketing, management and merchandising, which will help them in the years to come. DECA is a very active club in the school and in the community itself. DECA members run our school store called "After Hours."

*****

DECA is more than just a club. DECA is a responsibility. Since I joined DECA I have met many new people. The work that I have done in DECA will help me a great deal when I am ready to choose a career. DECA also has taught me many important values that will always be there for me when I need help to get a job or promotion, or to just get a good job.

A VERY SPECIAL GROUP

Being a member of the Black Explorers, I have learned many things. I've learned that just because you are not a big group does not mean that you cannot accomplish big things.

For the past two years that I have been a member of the club, we have been involved in many activities that brought togetherness. One project is our participation in the annual ethnic festival. Last year we also went on a field trip to the Black Arts Museum in Detroit.

But this year something very different happened, something I considered to be one of our biggest accomplishments. We have an exchange student from Germany in our group. It was a very big accomplishment because now people will know our group is not only for African-American students, but for anyone who wants to learn about African-American culture.

S.A.D.D.

S.A.D.D. is an organization that believes if you've been drinking that you shouldn't drive. I joined S.A.D.D. because I also believe in that.

We did many things around the school and in the community to get the message across. Around the school we put up posters and decorated a showcase stressing the message: "Don't Drink and Drive". In the community we put up a billboard that lit up at night. We also went to elementary schools and talked to the little kids about the dangers of drinking and driving.

We weren't always so serious. We did some really fun things such as - we had a Halloween party and decorated the school for Christmas.

When taking into consideration all we did this year, maybe you'll want to join next year. I am hoping to see you at the meetings.

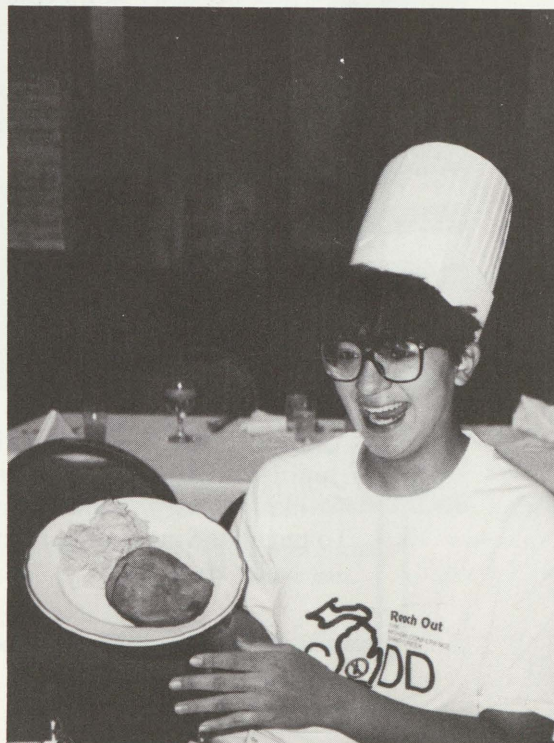

Please, if you have to drink, don't drive!

Yearbook Memories

At the end of the year,
When we've all said good-bye,
Shed all our tears,
Let out our sighs;
Promising we'll keep in touch—
Never thought school would mean this much!

The school year went by so fast,
Now I wish that it would last.
But now that it's happened,
Gone by all too soon,
I'm all alone,
In this dark, dreary room.

All those memories to keep in my mind,
Hoping that none of them will ever die.
Thinking of all the time it took,
To put all the memories into this yearbook.

SENIOR DREAMS

What do you dream of when you go to sleep?

You dream of having a good job;

You dream of being successful;

You dream of having a lot of money, and buying all the luxuries you could possibly have.

You dream of sharing it with that special someone.

You dream of a healthy life.

And when you wake up, you will see that the future lies within you and me.

How will you know this dream will come true?

When you see that your world is something new.

When that dream comes true, you will see,

that graduating from high school is part of sweet victory!

—Irene Cirilo

SPECIAL MEMORIES AND ETERNAL FRIENDS

Times spent with your friends are irreplaceable.
The smiles, the faces seen every day,
Each make an impact in a unique sort of way.
Moments lived through high school,
are definitely unforgettable!

All of the parties, and all of the games—
Adding to memories, but never the same.
The glamour of dances with friends and with guys—
Seem to add glitter to everyone's eyes.

The future offers success or possible failure.
Many opportunities lie ahead.
Friends will always be there to help break the barrier.

Remember through times of good and bad—
Happy or sad—The people who love and care, you'll always have.

The end of High School is like starting an interesting book—
The first chapter has been completed, and the ones of tomorrow are yet to come.
Work toward a goal—
Make your footprint in the sands of time, and you will always be remembered.

Good Luck Underclassmen, and Keep Your Spirits High.

I don't really feel any different after becoming Homecoming Queen. When I was nominated to be one of the top five, I was really surprised. I told people that I wanted to be the first short Homecoming Queen of Bridgeport. When I won, my friends just told me not to get a big head. It feels great, because now almost everywhere I go people will be saying, "Wow, that's Bridgeport's shortest Homecoming Queen!"

A SENIOR'S FAREWELL

'Twas the end of the year, and
all through the school,
the Senior's were crying,
"You teachers are cruel!"

Graduation was near, and the weather was warm,
but the homework kept coming, like bees in a swarm.

The days seemed to last for
forty-eight hours,
Senioritis set in like a huge rain shower.

But just when it seemed that commencements would never come,
the days ran down until there was just one!

"Tomorrow I graduate!" I exclaimed with a smile,
but then I realized I'd gone my last mile.

High School was over, real life
would soon start,
then I became sad, sad to depart.

But I knew in my heart that
memories never die,
so I say to you all, "Good Luck", not goodbye.

Future Plans

Dennis Medel plans to start college at Eastern Michigan University this summer, and work toward his teaching degree. He plans to major in Elementary Education, and plans to teach first grade. He loves children because they are so willing and eager to learn. He feels after he teaches for a few years he would like to become a principal of an elementary school.

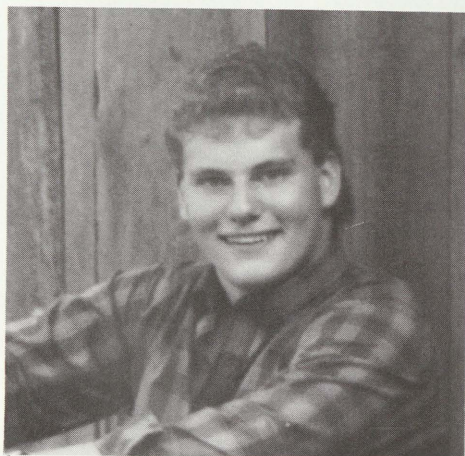

Nicola Bolf—Life after Bridgeport—hmm . . . interesting thought. I will be attending U of M, majoring in pre-med. What area will I specialize in? Pediatrics, most likely. You may ask why this career? Is it the money? My reply - "No! Personal satisfaction."

Rodney Gray, after graduation, plans to relax and return to his job at the Bay City Country Club. He does plan to attend college in the Fall of 1991. He has been selected to receive an academic scholarship at Grand Valley State University, majoring in pre-med. He is interested in the medical field, and would like to become an anesthesiologist. Rodney's ultimate goal is to be monetarily well-off, and to enjoy life to the fullest!

Anna Knight would like to attend Ferris State University and major in Criminal Justice. She would eventually like to become a policewoman or private investigator. Her reasoning for this career choice is - for the personal satisfaction of catching someone in the act of selling drugs or driving while drunk. Her ultimate goal in life is to be the best woman cop and have a family and be rich!

Mitch Tate plans to attend Central Michigan in the fall, majoring in Elementary Education. His reasoning - job satisfaction and he likes kids.

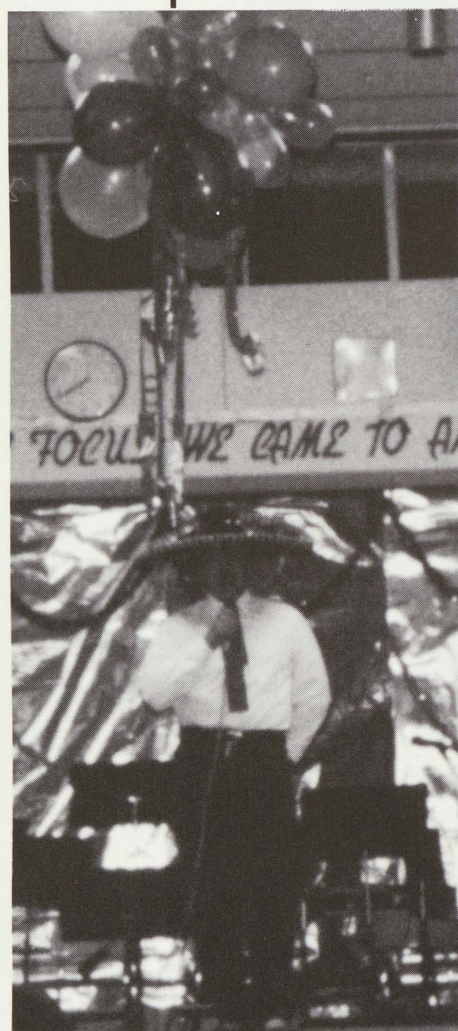

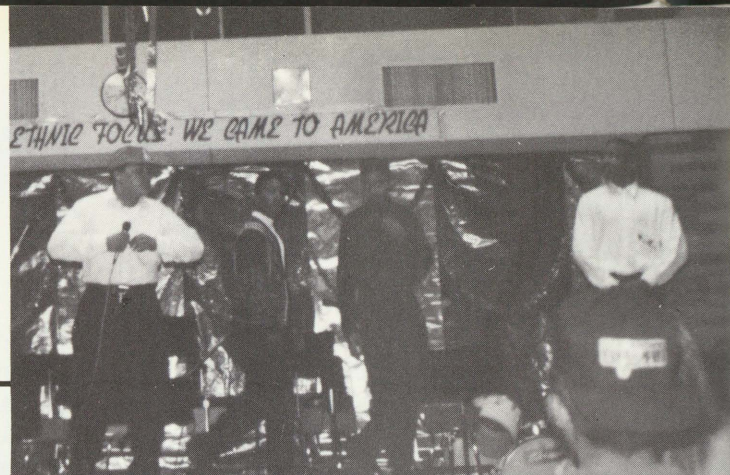

Later he would like to enter the field of Administration or Counseling; and he would also like to be a High School football coach. Mitch's ultimate goal in life is to get married and have a family (all boys), and to teach them the ways of life as well as his parents have taught him. He would also like to be able to keep in touch with friends.

Tondra Bowman plans to attend either the University of Michigan, or Washington University in St. Louis Missouri. Her major would be in Broadcasting and Telecommunications. Her reasoning - She feels this is a stressful field and that she has the enthusiasm and perseverance needed for the job. She eventually would like to become an anchorwoman. Tondra's ultimate goal in life is to be a successful anchorwoman in informing the public.

ETHNIC FESTIVAL

The Ethnic Festival is made up of groups of hard working students singing and dancing from a heritage common to some and uncommon to others. The Spanish and German students and their teachers put this Festival together each year, and do a great job!

The Spanish and German Clubs perform dances and songs from their heritages. The Black Explorers Club also has a part in the Ethnic Festival, performing dances and songs from the Black heritage.

The ethnic food is also a big part of the festival — giving all who attend a chance to sample food from many different cultures. Not just Spanish, German and Black cultures are represented, but many other European and Asian cultures as well.

If you miss the Ethnic Festival, you've missed a night of great fun, entertainment and excitement!

Foreign Exchange Students

All in all, the exchange year was a great experience, and I am really glad I came over to America. But, that doesn't mean it was always easy for me to live in Bridgeport where most people are so much more conservative than me. Especially during the Gulf Crisis, I often stood pretty much alone with my pacifistic ideas.

I was never really unhappy in Bridgeport, because all the people were always so nice to me (especially the guys on the Basketball team, who helped me a lot in the first months.)

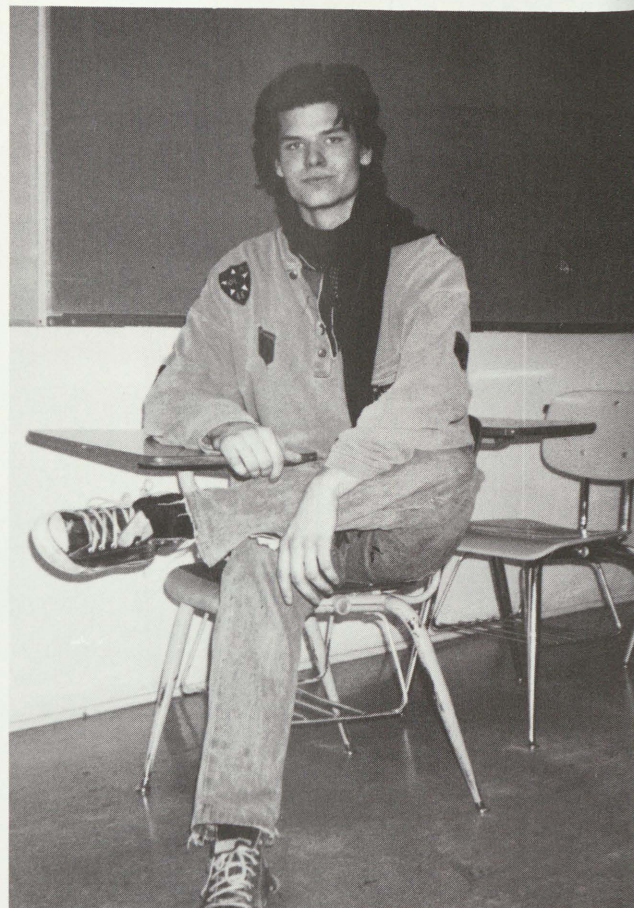

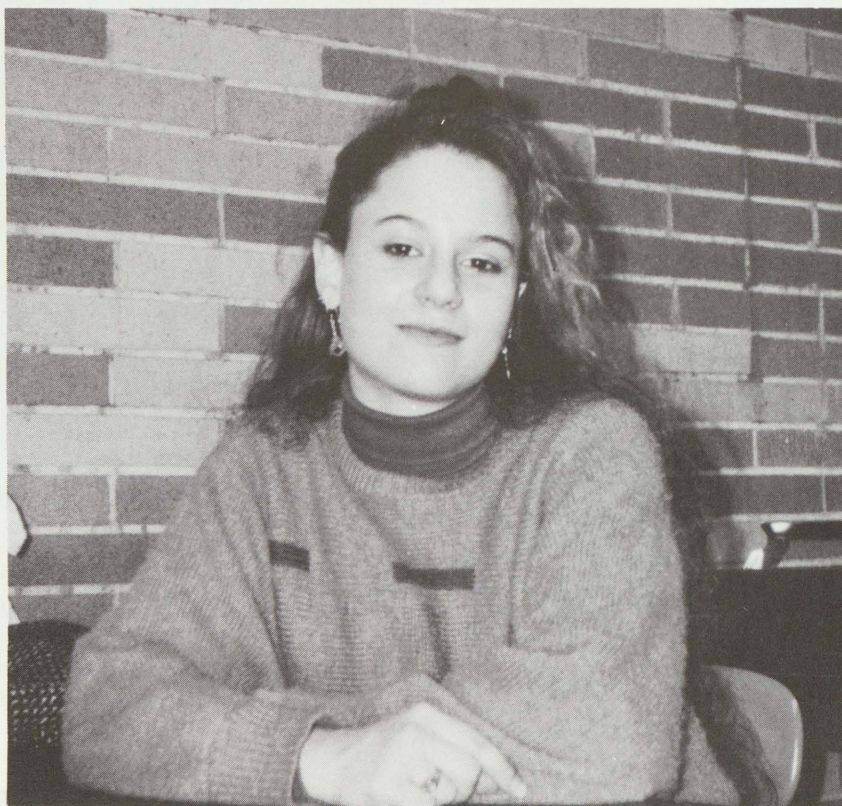

It was just great in America, and I hope I will see some of the people I have met here again when they visit me in Germany.

7TH STAR WINTERGUARD

Bridgeport Seventh Star has been a member of M.C.G.C. since 1982. In our first year of competition we won the State Championship in Auxiliary Class. During the following three years the Seventh Star continued to grow, expand and compete.

Finally in 1986 we grew large enough to compete in Class A and win a State Championship in the class. That feat was repeated in 1987. We also competed in our first WGI Regional competition and our first WGI Olympics in Dayton, Ohio.

1988 was our best year by far! We won the Class A State Championship for a third time, placed third in Chicago at WGI Midwest Regionals and followed that with a sixth place in the nation at WGI Olympics in Dayton.

1989 saw Seventh Star win our fourth M.C.G.C. state title, (this time in High School Open Class), place fourth in Midwest Regionals at Chicago in Class "A", and place fifth in the nation in High School Class "A" at WGI Nationals in Dayton.

1990 was another fine year for the guard. Seventh Star won it's fifth State title, Open Class for the second year in a row. We placed sixth in Midwest Regionals at Indianapolis. At Buffalo, N.Y., the guard placed fourteenth in international competition in WGI.

Bridgeport's Seventh Star is the oldest competing member of the M.C.G.C. All members are in grades 10-12 at Bridgeport High School. The 1991 Seventh Star members are: SENIORS—Sandy Bell, Jim Brody, Maria DeLaCruz, Ann Filiczowski, Mike Wesolek JUNIORS—Veronica DeLaCruz, Sharon Lysogorski, Laurie Susalla SOPHOMORES—Toiia Brown, Damion Smith

Maria DeLaCruz moves gracefully across the floor during competition.

It's funny when someone asks me what I'm doing this weekend; my reply is usually that I'll be here practicing with the winterguard. Most people respond with a look that says, "You're Nuts!" Usually their verbal reply confirms the look they give me, "You stay here all weekend, day and night? You sleep and shower here? You're crazy, I'd never do that!"

I remember one Saturday, it must have been about 12:30 a.m. We were practicing in the gymnasium and the basketball team walked in. They gave us looks like, "What are you guys doing here so late?" One person said, "Gosh, you guys must be really dedicated. How can you do all that stuff? I know I could never do that!" That made us all feel really proud.

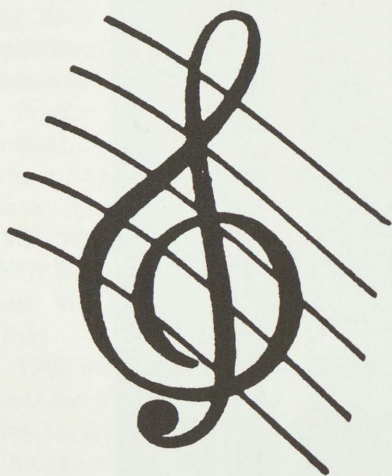

Yes, we do give up our weekends from October to April, but it's well worth it. Well, I mean wouldn't you think five time defending State Champion and placing in the top 14 guards in the world (impressive, huh!) for the past three years, is a good enough reason to want to stay on top and be so dedicated? I do!

I just wish more people would have a chance to know what a really great program the guard is!

To be placed in an A.P. class a student must have a screening with the teacher who teaches the particular class they are requesting. A.P. classes are college level courses, and students can receive college credits for the courses.

VOC ED CLASSES

The Vocational Education program is directed to one primary goal—Lifetime/Lifelong job entry level skills for employment. Students' abilities are developed in basic skills, practical knowledge, and characteristic processes needed to prepare them in a vocation. The vocational experience provides an individual with an outlook to other aspects of an occupation such as management, labor, and other related professions. Vocational Education helps provide for the well-trained technicians and professionals who have been and still are the foundation upon which America was founded.

"Is this how a milling machine is supposed to be set up?" asks Matt Lesniak

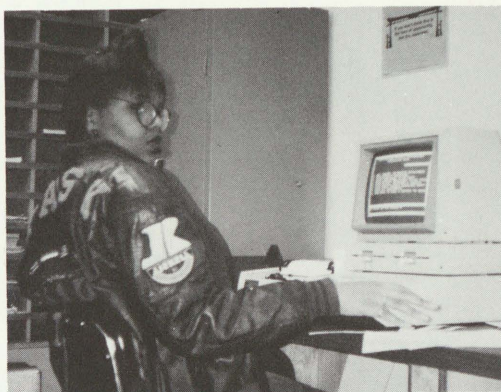

Eric VanConett, Jim Brody, and Scott Girard are hard at work dusting for fingerprints in the Law Enforcement class.

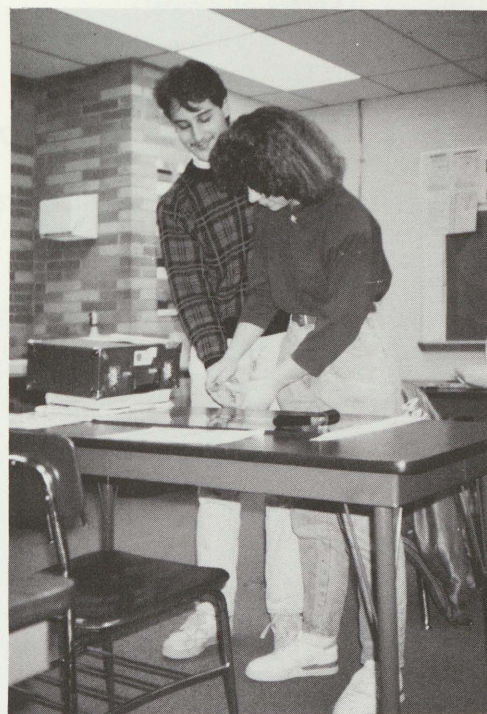

Tina Himmelein and Jenny Hilderbrant learn that friendly service is important in Marketing & Management, as they wait on Eric Lashore.

Veronica Ector fingerprints Latasha McCall in the Law Enforcement class.

Lakeity Blackmon figures out payroll on the computer in the Accounting & Computing class.

Practicing fingerprinting is kind of fun, isn't it Chris Garcia and Carrie Brenner?

Gary Shepherd is working hard laying steps at the building trades house.

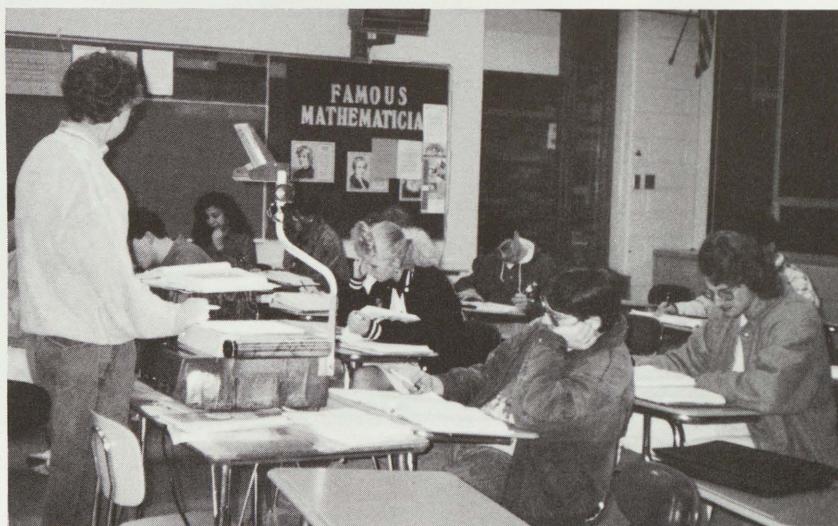

Brian Dunlap lends a hand while John Neuhaus drives a nail into the stud.

Daily Oral Language

We do it in our English classes,
Kindergarten through twelve.
An I is always capitalized;
but be courteous—
make sure you put your friends before your I's.
Double negatives give me nightmares!
Never say "I never won't!"
But always put your cases right,
"me" won't like it if you don't.
Commas go with appositives,
that is the thing to do;
but what about to and two and too?
With two it is better,
three is best.
Degrees of words!
Oooh, what a mess!
Fragments and run-ons,
oh, what a come on!
I can't wait for Graduation Day;
which is when I can say,
"Goodbye, Daily Oral Language!"
I'll see you whenever!
—Barbara Sian

Mr. LaFray's A.P. Math class is hard at work!

Jason Hurd seems to be listening intently in Mr. Woods' class.

Peggy Hanna, Jack Miller, and the rest of the English class work diligently on their D.O.L.

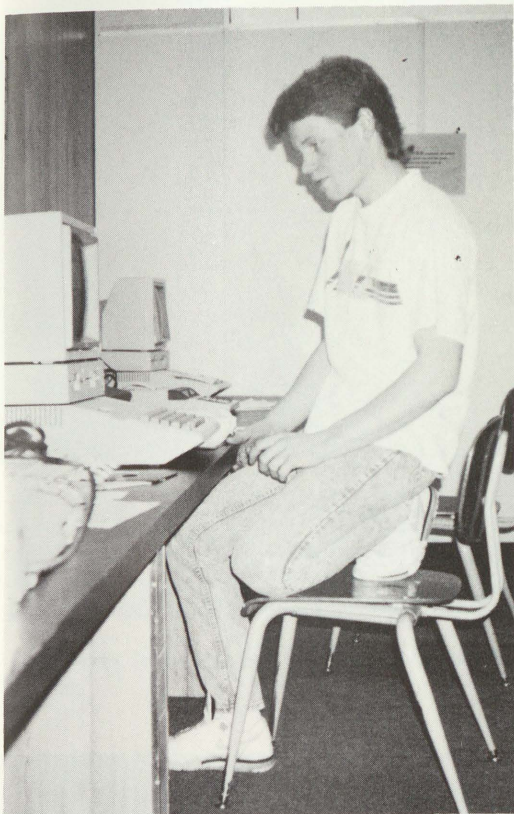

Dewayne Rogers and Eric Abraham work together on their assignment in Computer Skills class.

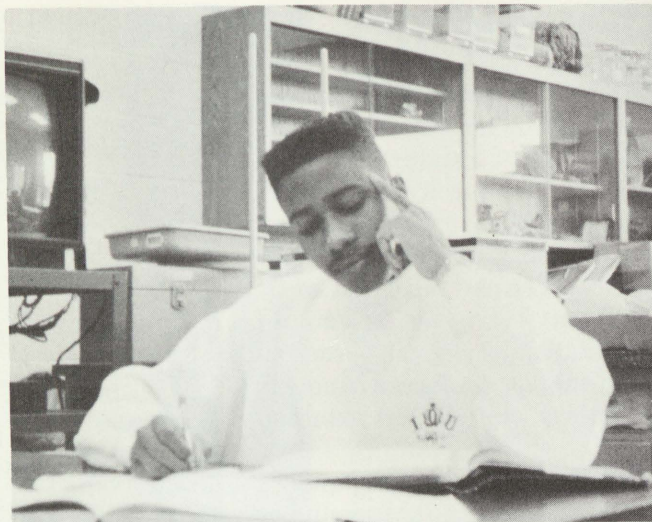

Melissa Nething and Annjannette Pine seem to enjoy Chemistry.

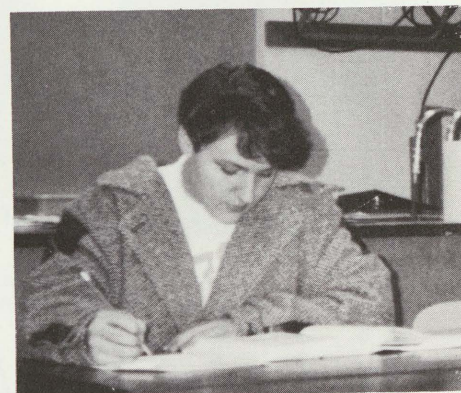

Accounting keeps Lewis Butzin on the edge of his seat.

Rodney Gray seems to really be concentrating on his Anatomy work!

"Look, no cavities", says Chad Chastain.

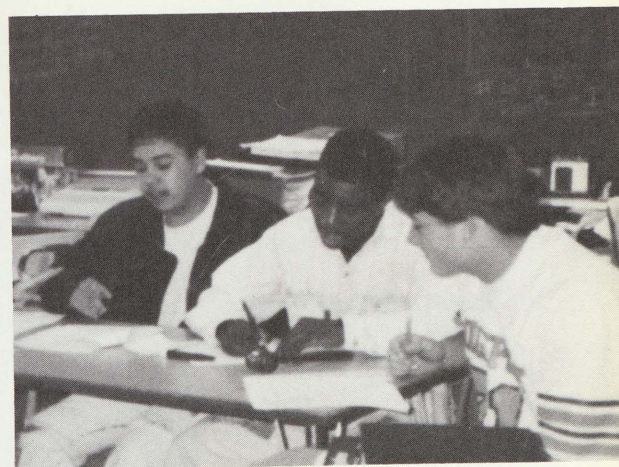

Cathi Calliari finishes up her assignment for Biology

"What is this thing?" Paul Wentworth asks Casey Garth.

We have about 1 minute before Mrs. Basil cracks the whip and makes us open our books.

Robert Ramirez, Rodney Murphy, and Joe Wambach work on their Marketing project together.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is a group of academic achievers with a grade point average of 3.5 or higher. We are hard workers and dedicated to a lot of activities.

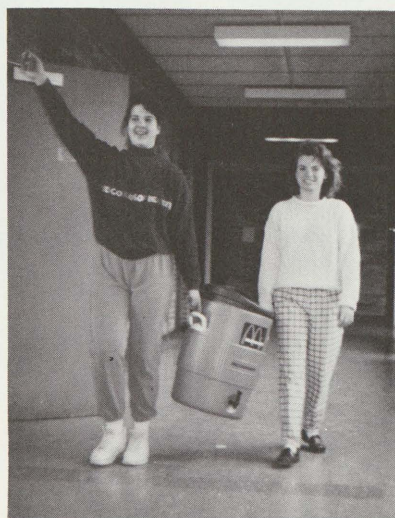

For fund raising we participate in community services and banquets. Community services generally apply to helping others. (Examples: raking leaves and shoveling snow.) We receive donations for our services. The part I like best about the NHS is the banquets! They vary every year. Tickets are sold to anyone who would like to attend. I am really proud to see how many people come to support us. These banquets may include soup and salad buffets, chili dinners, pancake suppers, and bake sales.

I have been a member of the NHS since my sophomore year and I have benefited from it. Some of the benefits in one's first year are initiation, an NHS pin, and a membership card. In the second year a varsity letter is received. Last but not least, seniors receive a scholarship.

—Arshana Burgman

"Let the festivities begin! We're here with the refreshments!" say Tonya Todd and Renee Stanley.

NHS Officers: Back: Enomwoyi Blackmon, Secretary; Jenny Kurek, V.P. of Activities; Don Keinath, V.P. of Fund Raising; Front—Julie Abraham, Treasurer; Jenny Hargett, President

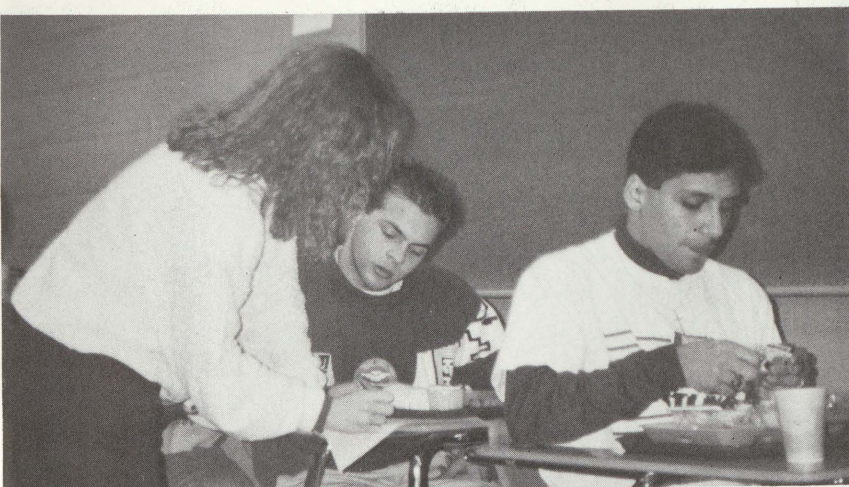

Cathi Calliari, Lakeity Blackmon, Tondra Bowman, Enomwoyi Blackmon, and Arshana Burgman have a little fun during the NHS meeting.

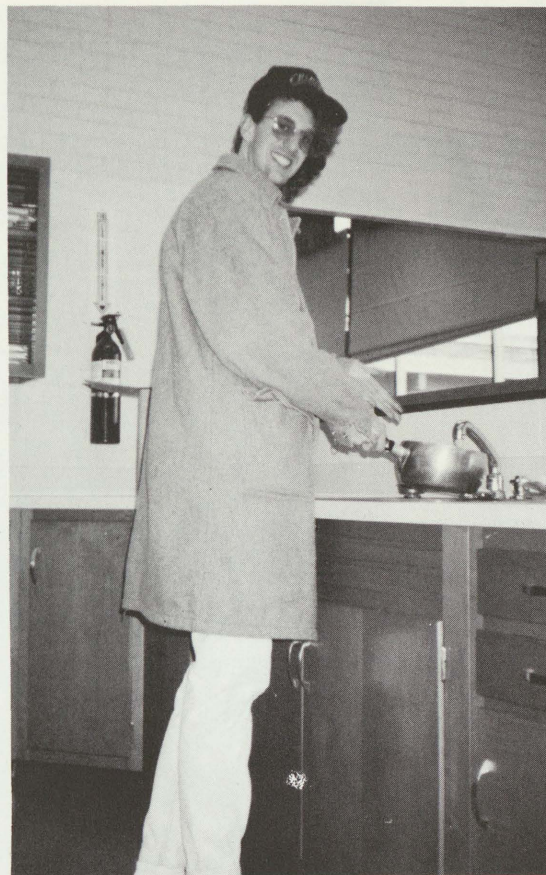

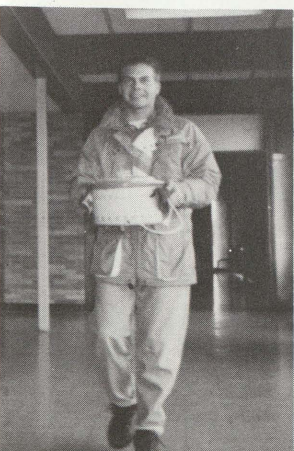

Phil Alvarez, Jenny Hargett, Wendy LaFray, and John Earle discuss business at an NHS meeting.

Here comes Stewart Dix with his world famous chili for the NHS chili dinner.

Wendy LaFray keeps careful watch over the chili. Burned chili wouldn't bring in much money!

"See, I can cook—First you put water in the pan like this." explains Ian Kleman as he helps prepare for the NHS chili dinner.

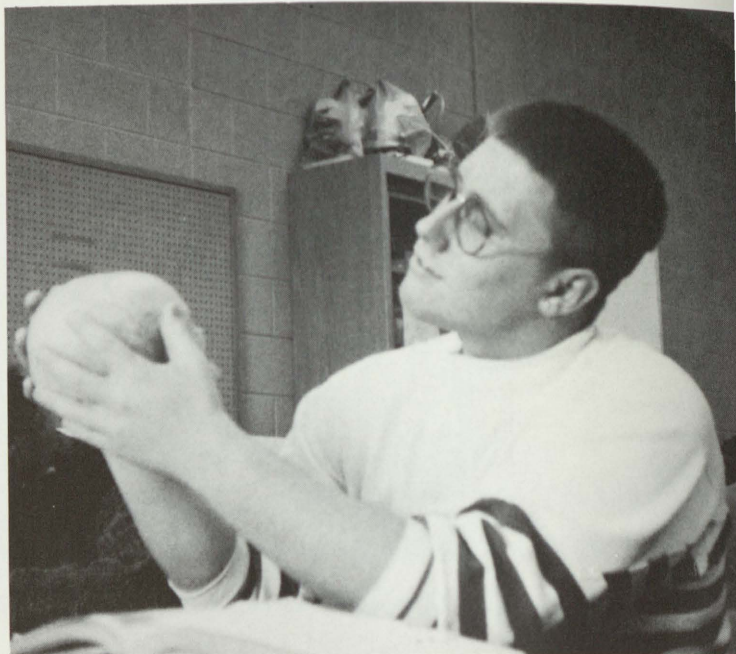

Jenny Hargett and Stewart Dix discuss NHS business during the meeting, while Bryan Weiler finishes his lunch.

The National Honor Society is an institution of higher learning and achievement. It recognizes those with great leadership and citizenship qualities. One must be involved and achieve physical, mental, and academic goals. It distinguishes those who accept education as something of great value.

Adventures in Science

"He doesn't quite have my good looks!" says Joshua Shelton.

Don Tillman, Raul Venegas, Casey Garth, and Chedrick Greene have made a new friend in their Science class.

"See, he looks just like me! right, Casey?"

Cindy Roth wouldn't be smiling if she knew the creature was behind her!

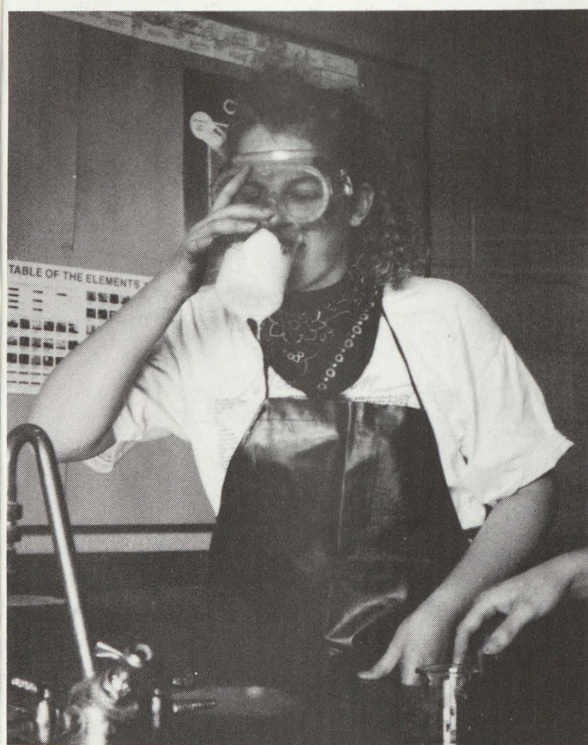

"This time we're going to get this experiment right, Beth," says Stacie Launstein.

"Is it supposed to bubble over like this?" asks Beth LaFave.

"Well, here goes!"

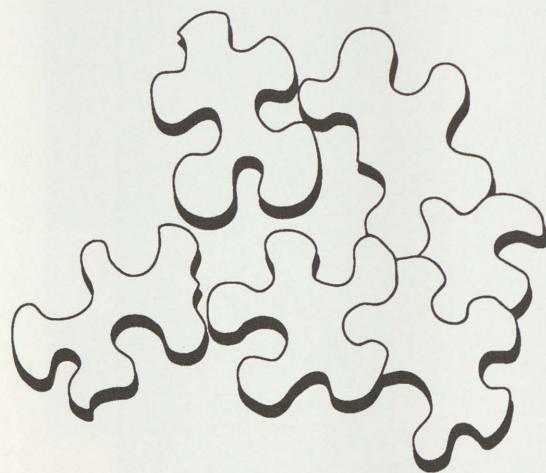

"Well, I'll be dog gone, Stacie, I think we did something wrong!"

Do We Need Ads?

Each year we find it costs more to publish our yearbook. The paper cost increases, printing cost increases, etc., and these costs are passed on to us. In order to help cut these costs, and keep the price of our yearbooks as low as possible, we sell ads. Our staff attempts to contact as many businesses as possible to try to sell them an ad in our yearbook.

Because of rising inflation, this job becomes more difficult each year. Businesses have cut back on advertising in order to save money, and this hurts us, as we have to increase yearbook prices to make up this loss.

Be sure to read the advertising section carefully, and note which businesses are dedicated to helping B.H.S. deal with the inflation problem. Let's try to patronize these businesses whenever possible to show our appreciation for their support.

A special thanks to each of the businesses who purchased an ad in our 1990-91 B.H.S. yearbook! Thank you for helping us keep our yearbook prices down so more students can afford to purchase them.

"Professional portraits aren't expensive, they're priceless!"

The End — Finally!

As you read through your copy of the 1991 yearbook, we hope you think about the hours of time and work that have gone into it.

First of all, we didn't get started until mid-October. At this late date it was already too late to add any color to the yearbook, which was disappointing. This also meant we had missed the chance for many of the fall sports pictures, and also were late for ad sales and yearbook sales. Starting out with 31 staff members and ending up with 6 certainly was not too encouraging either.

Attempting to get pictures and copy, drawing up layouts, editing copy to fit, cropping pictures, captioning, typing, proofing and correcting, are all time consuming jobs. Just when you think you can relax after meeting one deadline, you start pulling your hair out because the next deadline is fast approaching!

The yearbook staff would like to thank the teachers and students who loaned us pictures, helped out with supplying names, and obtaining copy for us. Also, our thanks go to our numerous advertisers, and parents who purchased the Senior patron ads.

These are the people who make it possible to have a yearbook!

Although working on yearbook staff is hard work, the end result is rewarding. Seeing the pages come together, and knowing you're a major part of what the final copy will be, gives you a great feeling within yourself. There is no feeling that compares to the feeling you get when you open your copy of the yearbook and can say — "I helped to create this!"

We have made many memories for ourselves in putting together the 1991 yearbook, and we hope we have captured many memories for all of you, also.

—The Yearbook Staff
